

3D2D Art Doors

ABOUT THE ARTIST:

Originally from Johannesburg, South Africa, Peter Geselowitz is an accomplished fine art muralist and oil painter. His early career included being an Art Director and Creative Director in bustling South African advertising agencies. Upon becoming a father, Peter turned to more freelance art, consulting and oil painting while happily raising his children with his wonderful wife Halina.

The tight-knit family moved to the United States in 1996. While remaining an oil painter, Peter has been working with Halina since then to create 3-D trompe l'oeil (trick-of-the-eye) murals in both California and Florida for private homes, businesses, public buildings, and even RV's. Peter and Halina recently moved to the beautiful Seattle area to join their son and daughter. They are currently embracing the fun of painting smaller-scale murals through their trompe l'oeil doors.

Peter believes that art is the universal language and that all people need to see good art in order to help understand their world. His style is defined by a passionate sense-of-life and love of humans and nature alike. All of his artwork challenges its viewers to really think.
